ABOUT WAFLPN

Funded by the Attorney-General's Department, the Western Australia Family Law Pathways Network (WAFLPN) works to foster strong links with locally based providers who operate as part of, or alongside, the family law system, to enhance collaboration and improve overall assistance to separated and separating families

The WAFLPN aims to facilitate a sustainable dialogue between providers in the family law system in order that practical and principled improvements can be made to the system, which benefit clients in both the short and long term.

SERVICE DIRECTORY

What?

The Service Directory is an online referral tool.

It is an easily accessible database containing information on government-funded and organisation-run services which work with families who are separating, or have separated.

Why?

There is anecdotal evidence from service providers indicating the need for a comprehensive and detailed service directory.

The aim for the Service Directory is to assist professionals in the Family Law sector to seamlessly access information on a vast range of relevant family law services.

The Service Directory will allow professionals to:

- help clients navigate the complexities of the Family Law System.
- make more accurate referrals for their clients, especially if their own organisation doesn't offer all the services their clients may require.

Who?

The Service Directory has been designed to be used by and assist professionals who work directly or indirectly in the Family Law sector.

Members of the public are able to use the Service Directory, but it would be mainly to get an idea of the services available and how to access or contact them - not a self-referral tool.

Criteria?

Any services or organisations who receive state or federal government funding (excluding one-off grants) are eligible to be registered on the WAFLPN Service Directory.

Listings of individual, private practitioners (i.e. lawyers, psychologists etc.) are not eligible to be included on the Service Directory.

Fee?

No - the Online Service Directory is completely free to both join and use.

Register?

To register your service on the service directory, fill out the form on the WAFLPN website or contact the WAFLPN team directly.
